

Scottish Fisheries Museum
Boats, fish and folk...

Vernacular Harbours of the East Coast of Scotland - The East Neuk of Fife -

Bibliography (Harbour Building)

Archives, Libraries and Websites

1. Fife Council Archive Centre: historic photographs, plans and reports relating to harbour development
2. RCAHMS (Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Scotland): historical photographs, plans, maps and archaeological reports on harbours
3. Scottish Fisheries Museum: Historic photographs and harbour plans, Fishery Board Reports, local reports and studies.
4. <http://www.ports.org.uk/index.asp> Site which lists over 950 UK harbours, more than half of which are in Scotland, with descriptions and photographs of each.
5. <http://maps.nls.uk/os/6inch/index.html> Old OS maps.
6. Google Maps, Satellite view.
7. <http://canmoremapping.rcahms.gov.uk/>

Sources

1. The Statistical Accounts of Scotland: three series of documentary publications covering life in Scotland in the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries.
2. The Fishery Board for Scotland – Annual Report 1815 – 1939 – includes reports and plans relating to harbour-building.

Secondary literature

1. Cowley and Crawford: Above Scotland – The National Collection of Aerial Photography, RCAHMS, 2009.
2. Angus Graham: 'Archaeological Notes on some Harbours in Eastern

- Scotland', Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, 101, 200-85.
3. Angus Graham: 'Old Harbours and landing-places on the east coast of Scotland', Proc Soc Antiq Scot, 108, 332-65.
 4. Angus Graham et al: 'Old harbours in northern and western Scotland', Proc Soc Antiq Scot, 117, 265-352.
 5. Ruth and Frank Morris: Scottish Harbours – The harbours of Mainland Scotland, 1983.
 6. Thomas Stevenson: The Design and Construction of Harbours, 1874.
Download from: books.google.co.uk/books?isbn=1108029671